

Project Title: Beyond the "See"

We have all learned a lot about ourselves this past year, and many of us have found new hobbies; for me, one of those hobbies was painting.

The ocean is a place that has always brought me peace; even during the toughest moments. Looking beyond the water, I see where I came from and the countries where my family members still live. Standing in the shore, I am reminded to stay in the present through the sensation of the sand, water and seeing the different types of marine life. Finally, the ocean is unpredictable, and so is life. Its' waves are similar to life itself; fluid most of the time, but sometimes a riptide will come, and if you remain calm, everything will most likely be ok.
